Red Captain Assessed Fine of $10,000

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — U.S. authorities are awaiting payment of a $10,000 fine assessed against the captain of a Soviet fishing vessel seized in U.S. territorial waters. Leonid Kushchenko, 29, of Vladivostok, was convicted Saturday of violating U.S. fishing waters and was jailed when he was unable to pay the fine. The prosecutor, U.S. Atty. Richard McVeigh, said he expected the fine to be paid today, and when it is he will ask the Coast Guard to return Kushchenko to his trawler.

The vessel was seized last Wednesday off Alaska's Shumagin Islands within the nation's newly set 12-mile fisheries zone. The 178-foot ship and its cargo of shrimp was towed by the Coast Guard cutter Storis to Kodiak but was released late Saturday. However, bad weather kept the SRTM 8-457 from returning to the Soviet fishing fleet until Sunday afternoon when the Storis escorted the trawler 12 miles outside the U.S. fishing zone. This was the second Soviet ship seized this month for fishing in U.S. waters. The first was on March 2, inside Alaska's three-mile limit, and the skipper, Nicolai Zernov, was fined $5,000 and freed. The fine was paid two weeks later. Coast Guard Cmdr. George W. Hardy Jr., captain of the Storis, said 14 other Soviet fishing vessels were in the area where Kushchenko's trawler was turned loose.

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
FREETOWN, Sierra Leone (AP) — Sierra Leone's new military rulers fired their chairman today before he had a chance to take the job and chose Lt. Col. A.T. Juxon-Smith instead. The National Reformation Council of eight young officers cabled their first choice, Lt. Col. Ambrose Genda, to remain at his post with Sierra Leone's U.N. delegation in New York. But Genda, 39, already had reached London on his way home.

N.Y. Firemen Plan Work Slow Down

By R.B. HAYES
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Firemen are continuing with plans that will leave Kansas City virtually without fire protection by Tuesday morning. They are seeking higher wages and shorter hours. Stanton R. Glean, Battalion chief and President of the Fire Fighters Local 42, said two more men in each company would take sick leave today. About sixty reported sick Sunday in the first move toward a walkout.

Gladden said all other men supporting the move will report they are sick Tuesday. In a similar dispute last summer only a handful of firemen opposed the union. Mayor Ilius Davis said the city has a plan of action if the walkout becomes complete. He wouldn't disclose the details. "We don't deal in threats," the mayor said.

Last summer, at the city's request, the National Guard was called out to protect the fire stations, although firemen remained on duty during that dispute.

The climax will come during the city election Tuesday, in which the 12-member city council and a mayor are elected.

Charles Shafer, attorney for the firemen's union, is a candidate for councilman, a post he formerly held. Gladden has accused the present council of failing to keep its promises. The union has urged defeat of the council majority in the election.

Mayor Davis, seeking re-election, said the "threat to stop fire protection, carried out, would be an irresponsible and vicious attempt to blackmail the voters."

"I can't believe that most of the firemen would leave their fellow citizens unprotected in order to further the political ambitions of Gladden and Shafer," Davis said.

Gladden said the stoppage was not an official strike or an action by the union. "It's just a spontaneous action of the men," Gladden asserted. The firemen are demanding a 10-per cent wage increase and reduction of their work week from 56 hours to 50. There are about 850 firemen, and the average salary is $6,700 a year. They are on duty 24 hours and off 48 hours.

Latin Plan Has Johnson in a Squirm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of his Vietnam policies are making President Johnson squirm a bit before handing him a resolution of Latin aid support he wants to take to the Punta del Este hemisphere summit conference April 12-14. They already have stalled the measure to the point where Johnson will not have it in his pocket when he entertains Latin American ambassadors at his Texas ranch this weekend.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has scheduled its next hearing on it for April 3. Johnson has been on the telephone to Senate friends haranguing them to get action. Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen reported a 30-minute conversation in which Johnson urged him to rally GOP support for the resolution.

As it stands, the resolution, passed by the House would have Congress "recommend" that the United States provide financing for Alliance for Progress educational and economic programs on a matching basis with Latin American nations. It also would put Congress on record for support of a common market for the area.

cause he was not advised of his rights at any stage of the proceedings against him. At a hearing in April 1966 on his motion for a new trial, which was denied, McIntyre said he did not have a lawyer when he pleaded guilty and denied having waived his right to having counsel. He said the question was never brought up. Garland Circuit Court said that the state offered testimony that McIntyre had been advised to his rights. The Supreme Court said, however, that Garland Circuit Court failed to make a written finding that the defendant was offered counsel and waived this right. The court said, too, that there was no evidence upon which the trial judge could have based such a finding.

Pilgrims See Snow in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP) — As Easter pilgrims shivered in snowy Jerusalem, Italians favoring birth control and divorce demonstrated in St. Peter's Square and Pope Paul VI urged the world Sunday to hope despite "menacing and gigantic problems."

Jerusalem's Easter weather was the worst in memory, and it kept all but about 500 of the thousands of pilgrims in the Holy City away from prayers at the marble tomb of Christ. The first snow on the holiday in decades led some pilgrims to exchange "Merry Christmases" instead of "Happy Easter."

The annual Easter procession moved through slushy streets, and sunrise services were moved indoors.

Before nearly 250,000 persons jammed into St. Peter's Square in Rome, Pope Paul said that his own joy on the festive day of Christ's resurrection was dimmed by the world's troubles. But he urged men not to let their minds be saddened "at the futility of efforts towards good, at the growing powers of darkness."

The Pope said he believed it was time for the Roman Catholic Church to take up social problems again and announced the publication Tuesday of an encyclical on social justice and an end to poverty and hunger. It will be the fifth encyclical of the Pope's 3½-year reign.

Pope Paul began the day by celebrating Mass in a poor suburb of Rome. In white vestments and a mitre, he also celebrated Mass on the steps of St. Peter's before giving his Easter message to the throng in the square.

The Pope touched on the Vietnam war and religious restrictions in Communist nations and elsewhere.

Mrs. Tudor Must Appear by Tuesday

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Wanda Tudor was given until 5 p.m. Tuesday to produce certain bank records and was also held in contempt of court here Saturday in connection with alleged Faulkner County voting irregularities. Circuit Court Judge Russell Roberts cited Mrs. Tudor for contempt, set bond at $500, and ordered that the First National Bank of Little Rock provide the court with bank ledger sheets and deposit slips for Mrs. Tudor's account by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The court directed the bank to provide copies of the records requested whether they were by Mrs. Tudor or anyone else. Mrs. Tudor said, on her lawyer's advice, that she had no objections to the banks turning over the records. Roberts also ruled that Proseccutor Jeff Mobley of Russellville has the authority to sit as a one-man grand jury to hear testimony of 11 Faulkner County Negroes at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Mobley had subpoenaed the Negroes to appear last Tuesday. Sen. Guy (Mutt) Jones of Conway started the controversy with a resolution in the Arkansas Senate that called for an investigation of the November general election in Faulkner County. Jones said he had reasons to believe that votes were bought in the last election. The Negroes are the alleged recipients of checks written to them by Mrs. Tudor when she was an employee of the Republican Party before becoming a receptionist in Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's office.

Monday, March 27, 1967

Broadway Rolls Out Best for Tony Awards

By JEAN HELLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway rolled out its best red carpet Sunday night to present the Tony awards for theater excellence and take its place among the national spectacles of the motion picture Academy Awards and television's Emmys.

As motion picture and theater star Lauren Bacall put it: "It's damn well about time." The hour-long 21st annual Tony award presentation, televised nationally from the Schubert Theater by the American Broadcasting Co., was the best show on Broadway Sunday night — all other Broadway theaters were dark for the holiday.

The musical, "Cabaret," and an English play, "The Homecoming," scooped up half of the 16 silver medallions.

Barbara Harris of "The Apple Tree" and Robert Preston of "I Do! I Do!" took the top awards for musical performances and Beryl Reid of "The Killing of Sister George" and Paul Rogers of "The Homecoming" took medallions as top stars in straight drama.

Tonys for supporting roles went to Joel Grey and Peg Murray, both of "Cabaret"; and to Marian Seldes of "A Delicate Balance" and Ian Holm of "The Homecoming" for supporting dramatic roles.

Other awards to "Cabaret" went to producer Harold Prince, librettist Jose Massero, composer John Kander and lyricist Fred Ebb, sharing the medalion for the best musical; to Prince for his direction; to Kander and Ebb for the best score; to Patricia Zipprodt for costume design; and Ronald Field, choreography.

"The Homecoming" took the Tony for the year's outstanding drama, shared by author Harold Pinter and producer Alexander H. Cohen, and for direction by Peter Hall.

Red carpeting was rolled out along midtown Manhattan's 44th Street between the Schubert Theater and Sardi's East, across the street, for each Tony recipient to use in crossing from the theater to the restaurant to meet the press.

Each dutifully recited the watchword of show business award winners:

"I am just so happy and I would like to thank all the people who made this possible..."

But each seemed happy that the Tonys had become a national affair rather than the intimate little gathering that had characterized the presentations for the past 20 years.

"It's a lot better than the Oscar (Academy Award) show," said producer David Merrick, "and we didn't even have Jerry Lewis. We live on publicity. This is the greatest we can get."

Lincoln made his Gettysburg address on Nov. 19, 1863.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

ETERNAL QUESTION

Dear Helen: Why is it when your teenagers ask you opinion on different matters and it isn't what they want to hear, they proceed to tell you just exactly how wrong you are? Why do they ask in the first place? —MUDDLING THROUGH

Dear M. T.: . . . To churn up a friendly argument. How else can they ever teach us "Pre-histories" the facts of life?

P.S. If you haven't done likewise with your husband, you're a better wife than I am.—H.

Dear Helen: You are a true friend of the male, and I'll back you against a certain female author any day.

You said the divorcee should pay for her baby sitter when she goes out with a man. The female book writer said the poor dumb man must pay for having his lady friend's kids "sat," in addition to spending maybe fifty clinders for a night on the town.

If she can't afford three or four bucks for baby sitting, she'd better invite him in to dinner. It might be a better evening anyway. —LORIN

Dear Helen: I brought my female companion home, she invited me in for a nightcap, and then she asked if I'd take her baby sitter home. I could see that if I stayed, there'd be a teenage chaperone, so I complied.

But this tears it: the kid told me she hadn't been paid, and that "Mrs. T's dates always pay me."

Mrs. T. is now out of my little black book. — NOT BUYING

Dear Helen: Since when does a hard-up divorcee have to pay for her own baby sitter when she's taken out to dinner by a man? That's part of the evening. If he won't pay, by gosh, I'll bring my kids along! —DIANE more than once—with the same man!

Dear Diane: I'll bet you won't

To all DIVORCEES who complained about my answer: I stand by my guns. Until you know your date better pay the sitter BEFORE he takes her home—and tell him you have!
Later on if he assumes this expense, don't argue overmuch, but DO ask him in for dinner often enough to let him know he's appreciated.—H.

Dear Helen: Over 14 years I've been going with this bachelor. I'm beginning to think he wants to stay that way. At one time he was going to pay for my divorce, but somehow he forgot about it.

Now he also goes around with a woman 13 years younger than I. He almost took his blood test to marry her, but decided against it because she drinks too much. He dates me on Tuesdays and Saturdays, her on Fridays and Sundays. I don't know what he does on Wednesday's and Thursday's. (Note from H: Would you believe—rests?)

I still haven't got my divorce. Should I pay for it myself and hope he gets the idea?—T.D.

Dear T: Pay for your divorce yourself if you want one, but hope for nothing except a less illusive—and agile—man.—H.

Dear Helen: So glad to hear that other women are up in arms about those cobwebby hose. I got tired of being a sucker years ago, so now I order my 20 and 30 denier nylons from one to the two large mail order houses. (Note from H: You may get them from wholesale companies too, at reasonable prices.)

I can scarcely tell the difference, except in wear—like miraculously.—Mrs. H.B.E.

Thinks UCLA May Be in a Cage Dynasty

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Wooden, coach of UCLA's NCAA national basketball champions, isn't sure what the word dynasty means but he may have one on his hands.

Led by giant Lew Alcindor and tiny Mike Warren, the Bruins wrapped up their third national title in four years Saturday night to cap a perfect 30-0 season.

And with all five starters returning, Wooden won't deny that UCLA may be back to claim the title next year.

"I've never been quite sure what the word dynasty means. I've never looked it up," Wooden said after the Bruins had squashed Dayton's game Flyers 79-64 in the championship game.

"But I do hope we can stay up there and be a power," he said. "We're certainly going to continue trying and I hope we'll be back next year, and the year following, and the year following, and the year following."

"I never want us to do less than we did this year in order to get here," Wooden said.

Wooden denied that a basketball dynasty, at UCLA, if there is to be one, would be harmful to college basketball.

"I'd say the New York Yankee regime wasn't bad for baseball," Wooden said. "I think a winning team should give others incentive to build to the level of the best."

Don Donohue, the Dayton coach, agrees.

"When you see a team like this it makes you want to build toward it," he said.

The Flyers fell behind 20-4 as the game started and never really knew what hit them.

Dayton's biggest scoring threat, Don May hit only three of 12 baskets in the first half and the team hit only 23.8 percent from the field. May wound up with 21 points but the Flyers team shooting only warmed up to 34 percent.

Alcindor's mere presence was enough to intimidate Dayton, but he scored 20 points and nabbed 18 rebounds for good measure. Lucius Allen had 19 points and Warren 17.

It was the third straight year in the playoffs for Dayton and the third time it had been eliminated by the No. 1 ranked team. The Flyers finished 25-6 this season.

Guy Lewis, whose Houston Cougars did only what was necessary to defeat North Carolina, 84-62 in the consolation game, also is optimistic about next season.

"We lose two starters, but I think that we can have a team just as good or better next season," Lewis said. "When you wind up your season with a win over the number three ranked team in the country, it's a pretty good indication."

Troublesome Putter Costs Mr. Huggett

HONG KONG (AP) — A troublesome putter cost England's Brian Huggett the Hong Kong Open golf title Sunday and gave Peter Thomson of Australia the victory in the $12,000 tournament.

Thomson and Huggett were tied at 273 after the regulation 72 holes and went into a sudden death round. Both parred the 400-yard par-4 first hole.

Then, after his drive fell 35 feet from the cup on the par-3 179-yard second hole, Huggett ran into trouble. His first putt was two feet short and his next missed by two inches.

Thomson meanwhile, drove into the right bunker, chipped to within 10 feet and then putted out for his par and the victory.

Kathy Whitworth Wins Tourney

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, plagued by four bogeys on the back nine, won the $10,000 Venice Open Golf Tournament Sunday by one stroke over Gloria Ehret and Clifford Ann Creed.

Miss Whitworth's 4-over-par 76 final round gave her a 217 total and the $1,500 top prize. Miss Ehret and Miss Creed banked $1,000 each.

Gay Brewer Wins at Pensacola

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — "I think I can win the Masters — that's the one I really want," Gary Brewer said today after making a travesty of par in winning his second straight Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm playing well. I feel I have a good chance at Augusta. I'm going all out for it."

Winning the Masters holds a special allure for the 35-year-old veteran from Middletown, Ohio, just as repeating in Pensacola enabled him to prove something to himself and others.

Last year Brewer backed into the Pensacola crown when the popular Doug Sanders, leading by four strokes, was disqualified after the third round for failing to sign his score card.

"Nobody spots me four strokes and beats me," a disgruntled Sanders remarked bitterly afterward — a comment said in haste for which he later was sorry.

Brewer took it to heart. "I'd have liked the chance to see whether I could have caught him or not — it's been done," Brewer said. "So I was really anxious to win this tournament this year." He won spectacularly.

Spewing birdies and eagles over the 6,380-yard par 72 Pensacola Country Club course, he scored a near-record 66-64-61-71 — 262 for a six-stroke victory over 36-year-old home pro Bob Keller of the nearby Eglin Air Force Base.

After firing 26 birdies and an eagle in the first three rounds to go 25 under par and increasing that to 29 under par through 66 holes, Brewer looked ready to catch Mike Souchak's all-time record of 257 for 72 holes, set on the Brackenridge course at San Antonio, Tex., in 1955.

But the rains came, Brewer bogeyed three of the finishing holes and he had to settle for a score of 26 under.

At the Masters last year, the pug-nosed midwesterner had the traditional green coat virtually in his closet when he came to the final hole needing only a par to win. He three-putted from 40 feet, missing a crucial seven-footer, and tied Jack Nicklaus and Tommy Jacobs at 288.

In the playoff, Nicklaus won with a 70. Tommy shot a 72 and Brewer skied to a 78.

Brewer, in scoring his first tournament victory since the same tournament a year ago, won $15,000. Keller grabbed $9,000, thanks to a fine trap recovery on the final hole, beating out Sanders, who won third money of $5,825. Keller shot 65 for 268, Sanders 64 for 269.

Then came Ken Still, 71 for 271, followed by a quintet at 272 — young Jim Colbert, George Archer, Bobby Nichols, Dan Sikes and Tommy Jacobs.

Warriors, Hawks Set for Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Warriors and the St. Louis Hawks now are getting ready for the battle for supremacy in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, but the Boston Celtics surprisingly have a little unfinished business in the East.

The Warriors, who won their third straight playoff victory from Los Angeles Sunday, 123-115, play the Hawks in the Cow Palace Thursday night in the opener of their series.

But the Celtics, who had beaten New York 21 times including two recent playoff triumphs, were upended by the Knicks 123-112 in Boston and the series moves back to New York Tuesday.

Philadelphia won its playoff series from Cincinnati with a 112-94 third-game victory Saturday while St. Louis disposed of Chicago with a 119-106 triumph in its final game in the preliminary Western Division series.

The rest of the schedule between St. Louis and San Francisco has the second game on the Coast Saturday and then it's back to St. Louis for the third game on April 5 and the fourth game on April 8.

If additional games are needed, the fifth will be at San Francisco on April 10, the sixth at St. Louis on April 12 and the seventh in San Francisco on April 14.

Rick Barry led the Warriors Sunday with 37 points, and the Lakers sorely missed Jerry West, out of the game with a broken finger. Elgin Baylor had 37 points for Los Angeles.

Willis Reed had 38 points for the Knicks and dominated the boards in the upset. Cazzie Russell had 24 points and Walt Bellamy added 23. John Havlicek had 29 for Boston.

Only southern city that has always flown the Union flag is Key West, Fla.

Porkers Take a Pair of First Places

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas captured two first places Saturday in the 16th annual Arkansas Relays, but the University of Missouri proved to be the outstanding team, winning six events.

No team champion is named for the relays.

Tom DeBerry recorded a 9.9 to win the 100-yard dash and Ken Sharp cleared 15 feet, 2 inches to win the pole vault.

Steve Herndon of Missouri leaped 6 feet, 11 inches for a relay record in the high jump. The other record came in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles which Gene Schierling of Emporia State, Kan., cleared in 53.2 seconds.

closed ground on Toronto Sunday in the three-cornered battle for second place, Chicago's regular-season champions bowed to Detroit 4-2 in a game marred by the resumption of hostilities between superstar Hull and superpest Bryan Watson.

Hull and Watson, who tangled several times last season when Watson was assigned to hound the Black Hawks' ace traded punches in the second period and spent the rest of the night shoving and elbowing each other.

Montreal, meanwhile, struck for six goals in the third period and whipped the Boston Bruins 6-3 for a share of second place with Toronto, which fell to New York 4-0 as Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin registered his ninth shutout — tops in the league.

The Rangers' victory lifted them within one point of the Leafs and Canadiens going into the final week of the campaign.

Hull, sidetracked from his assault on the goal-scoring record he set last season, failed to get a shot off against the Red Wings and drew 14 minutes in penalties — including a pair of five-minute majors after the second-period melee.

Watson, a brash, 24-year-old checking specialist, gained prominence by stymieing Hull as the Red Wings ousted Chicago in a semifinal playoff series last April. He'll probably be shadowing Hull, who needs three more goals to break his 1965-66 record of 54, when the teams meet for the last time Tuesday night.

Dean Prentice scored twice for the Red Wings, who pulled away on goals by Floyd Smith and Bruce MacGregor in the last two minutes of the second period.

The Canadiens, unbeaten in their last eight games, wiped out a 2-0 Boston lead with their third-period scoring spree. Gilles Tremblay triggered the rally and John Ferguson, Leon Rochefort, Bobby Rousseau, Ralph Backstrom and Jean Beliveau kept it rolling. The first five Montreal goals were scored in less than six minutes.

Giacomin stopped 31 Toronto shots in becoming the first New York goaltender since 1932 to record nine shutouts in a season. The second-year netminder has blanked the Leafs three times.

Two Rate as Favorites for Big Race

Reflected Glory, pride of the Hirsch Jacobs Stable, and Damascus, beaten only once in six career starts, today rate as co-favorites for the May 6 running of the Kentucky Derby.

But Reflected Glory, quoted at 5-1 in the future books' opening line after a convincing triumph in the Flamingo at Hialeah Park, could change all of that Saturday in the 1½ miles of the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Damascus, rated no better than 12-1 in the opening line, moved in on the Jacobs-trained 3-year-old last Saturday by posting a convincing victory in the $28,600 Bay Shore at Aqueduct for his second success of the year and his fifth after losing his first race as a 2-year-old.

Reflected Glory, a come-from-behind type, didn't even figure in the 2-year-old ratings of 1966. Damascus picked up many backers after beating the Jacobs colt in the one-mile of the Remsen in his final start of a light-campaign.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker lost no time last Saturday telling all who would listen that Damascus was his Derby mount. That was when the Frank Whiteley-trained horse whipped Aqueduct's mud, the fleet Disciplinary and Solo Landing, the odds-on-favorite who was working on a string of five straight victories.

The paths of Reflected Glory, a son of Jester, and Damascus, an offspring of Sword Dancer, who ran second in the 1959 Kentucky Derby, are not likely to cross until the 1½-mile run for the roses, after the Florida Derby. Reflected Glory is expected to head for Kentucky with his final prep in the Blue Grass at Keeneland April 27.

Damascus was back at his Laurel, Md., barn today with the one-mile of the Gotham on April 15 at Aqueduct his next scheduled start. He's likely to wind up his Derby preparations in the 1½ miles of the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct April 22.

Meanwhile, Reflected Glory faces no easy task in the Florida Derby. He'll take on among others, In Reality, runner-up in the Flamingo and winner of the Foundation of Youth, and Great Power, whom trainer Eddie Deloy confidently expects to show improvement after disappointing in the Fountain of Youth.

TOO MANY COEDS
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rhode Island College has launched a campaign that finds few supporters among the male students. The college wants to attract more men because girls outnumber guys 3-1 in the current freshman class.

Canadian and French Skaters Are Toasted

JACKSON HOLE, Wyo. (AP) — Canada's Nancy Greene and France's Jean-Claude Kilby were toasted by more than 100 of the world's top skiers in this western Wyoming community Sunday night, capping three days of rugged competition for the World Cup of Skiing.

Miss Greene, a pert 24-year-old member of the 1964 Canadian Olympic team faced the leader of the World Cup competition 22-year-old Marielle Goitschel of France.

On the men's side, Kilby was striving to end his season on a victorious note and follow his giant slalom victory Saturday in the Wild West Classic with a win in the slalom.

Miss Greene had turned back Marielle in Saturday's giant slalom and needed a 25-point victory in the slalom to win the massive Crystal Cup in its first year.

She answered that challenge finishing second in the first run behind Florence Stourer of France while Miss Goitschel was close behind in third.

But in the second heat, Nancy, known as the Tiger to her teammates, flashed down the 1,250-foot course in 44.51 seconds, which was coupled with her first run time of 46.16 seconds for a 90.67 total.

Miss Goitschel recorded a 46.21 and a 44.53 for a 90.74 seconds total. In third was Miss Steurer with 93.02.

Meanwhile, Kilby was having his trouble with the first run on the 72-gate, 1,875-foot course.

The usually wild Frenchman, who had taken his ninth consecutive victory the day before in the giant slalom, abandoned his style for a conservative race and finished sixth in a time of 62.46 while Austrian veteran Karl Schranz was flashing to victory in 60.71.

Kilby caught an edge approaching the midpoint on the 67-gate second course for the men and tumbled. He did not finish.

The Americans started badly in the final day of competition. Jimmy Heauga, 23, of Tahoe City, Calif., who consistently pursued Kilby in the last three World Cup races, fell during his first run and did not finish.

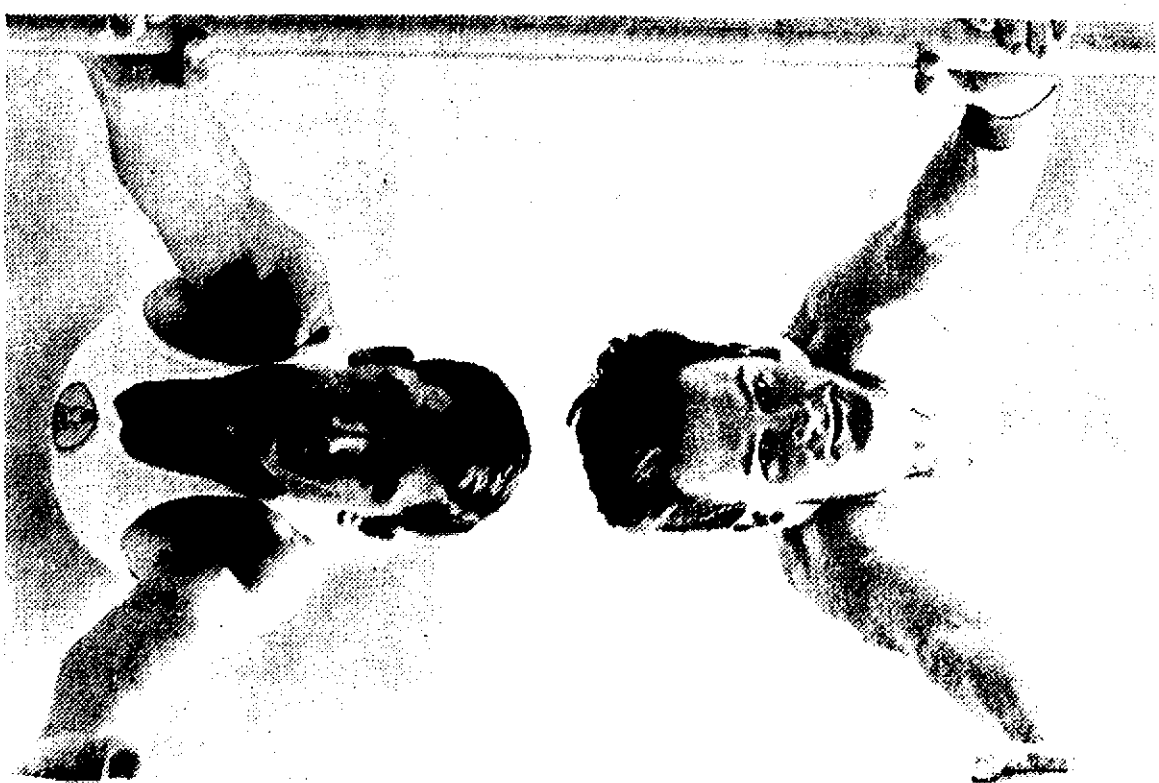

Big Jim Barrows of Steamboat Springs, Colo., was disqualified during his first run and Harry Ryan of Rutland, Vt., also fell and did not finish. Rick Chaffie, also of Rutland, was disqualified.

Aspen's Bill Marolt, who had a first run time of 68.56, did not start the second race.

But the U.S. picture was brightened when Vladimir (Spider) Sabich of Twin Bridges, Calif., turned the first heat in 64.7 seconds and came through in 65.14 in the second to finish sixth in the final results.

John Clough of Waterville Valley, N.H., and Dennis McCoy of Bishop, Calif., pieced together runs to finish ninth and tenth.

For the U.S. women, Kiki Cutler, of Bend, Ore., finished in the sixth spot and Lee Hall of Westfield, Vt., finished eighth.

Canada and Russia in World Finals

VIENNA (AP) — Unbeaten Canada and Russia met today in the World Hockey Championships' showdown game while the battered U.S. team took a day off.

The Americans, laboring under a lengthy toll of injuries, clinched a berth in the 1968 Olympic Games with a 2-0 victory over Finland Sunday.

It was the second straight shutout for goalie Carl Wetzel of Detroit and assured the Americans of no worse than a tie for fifth place in this tourney. The top five teams here qualify for the Olympics.

Wetzel, who played a 0-0 tie against East Germany Saturday, kicked out 27 shots, despite a second period tumble that aggravated an old back injury.

Gerry Melnychuk of Minneapolis and Craig Falkman of St. Paul Minn., scored the American goals.

Russia, with five straight victories, held a one-point edge over Canada, which had four victories and a tie before today's game.

Both teams have one game remaining after today's match.

Barber, Sikes in the Money

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Miller Barber and R. H. Sikes, two Arkansans on the professional golf tour, finished well up in the money in the Pensacola Open Golf Tournament which ended here Sunday.

Barber, of Texarkana, Ark., finished with a 272 total and won $1,612. He had a final round 65. Sikes, of Springdale, Ark., had a final round 70 for a 274 score. He won $1,087. Gay Brewer won the $15,000 first prize with a 262 total for 72 holes.

JOSEPH C. MAHAN

Joseph C. Mahan has been promoted to manager for Southwestern Bell here and in eight other Southwest Arkansas cities and towns.

Mahan replaces Frank V. Meeks, who has been named a commercial staff assistant for the company in Little Rock.

The new telephone company manager has been serving as a commercial assistant in Hot Springs for the past nine months. He joined the company in September, 1965, after his graduation with a bachelor of science degree in education from State College of Arkansas at Conway and a tour of duty with the United States Navy.

Mahan, a native of Little Rock, is a Lieutenant in the Naval Reserve. He is married to the former Miss Diane Meacham of Little Rock and they have one daughter.

He will manage commercial operations and business offices for the company at Camden, Hope, Arkadelphia, Gurdon, Bodcaw, Ashdown, Chidester, Stephens and Nashville.

Meeks, who joined the telephone company in 1964, has been manager in this area since November, 1965.

Short Cut in Dialing Locally

Southwestern Bell customers in the Hope and Bodcaw areas may now direct dial long distance telephone calls inside Arkansas without dialing the state's area code "501," it was announced by Manager Joseph C. Mahan.

This new method of dialing long distance calls direct will reduce by three the number of dial pulls needed for a caller to reach any other telephone in Arkansas. Calls to points outside Arkansas will still require the area code, however.

"This new system should simplify the process of making long distance calls within Arkansas," said Mahan. "The caller will continue to dial — first — the access number '1' and then the distant seven-digit or two letter-five digit number. But he will not need to dial the '501' area code anymore."

For example, to reach the telephone business office in Fayetteville, a caller would dial only "11" and then "HI 2-9801." "On long distance calls to points outside Arkansas, though, callers will still need to dial '1,' then the area code, and then the distant number," said Mahan.

"The '501' area code has also been eliminated on calls to 'information' in other Arkansas cities. Now you need only dial '1-555-1212' for the 'information' operator in any other Arkansas city or town. Out-of-state calls to 'information' will still be placed by using '1,' then the correct area code, and the '555-1212.' For Hope customers, the local 'information' number will remain '411.' Bodcaw customers will dial 'operator' for local 'information.'"

"In eliminating the '501' area code on long distance calls to points inside Arkansas, we feel that we are taking another step to provide the fastest and most convenient telephone service possible," said Mahan.

Officials to Discuss Crime Report

By STEPHEN M. AUG WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 500 law enforcement officials, judges, professors and state legislators will confer Tuesday and Wednesday on how to implement more than 200 recommendations made by the National Crime Commission.

It will be the first opportunity for a broad-based critique of the 352-page report, issued last month after more than 18 months of work by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

The report contains thousands of statistics and adds recommendations on topics ranging from alcoholism to development of a national strategy to fight organized crime.

The commission believes one of its most important findings—the result of a survey of 10,000 representative American households—is that throughout the nation "there is far more crime than ever is reported."

It found there are more than twice as many aggravated assaults and larcenies of more than $50 as are reported, half again more robberies, and, in some areas, "only one-tenth of the total number of certain kinds of crime are reported to the police."

The recommendations call for changes in police operations, schools, prosecutors, employment agencies, social workers, prisons, housing authorities and probation and parole officers.

When the report was issued nearly 40,000 copies were distributed free to state legislators, mayors, police and court officials, news media, congressmen and others concerned with law enforcement.

An additional 10,000 were printed for sale to the public at $2.25 each. The government printing office reports that about 8,000 have been sold and that it has already made a second printing of 10,000.

James Vorenberg, a Harvard University law professor on leave to be executive director of the commission, said comments he has received so far "run 19 to 1 in favor of the report and its recommendations."

But he added there has been "some minor criticism from the far left and perhaps a little stronger from the far right."

In the field of narcotics, for example, some critics have suggested that the United States adopt the British system of registering addicts and supplying them with whatever narcotics they need.

Firemen in Kansas City on Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the AFL-CIO Uniformed Firemen's Association says that on Thursday or Friday the city's 10,500 firemen will start a work slowdown, responding only to fire calls and emergencies.

Gerald F. Ryan, association president, said Sunday the union's delegate assembly would meet today to set a date for starting the partial work stoppage designed to pressure the city in a pay dispute.

The firemen have been working without a contract since last July. They are demanding the annual base pay for top-grade firefighters be increased by $2,000 to $10,500.

John J. Casse, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, said Sunday that off-duty policemen would begin picketing City Hall Thursday. The PBA is bargaining jointly with the firemen and has also threatened a slowdown.

Casse has said the police will not strike.

Both he and Ryan appeared on WCBS radio "Let's Find Out" program. They said the only way to avert the threatened slowdowns would be for Mayor John V. Lindsay to meet with them.

Lindsay refused to comment on the dispute Sunday.

During the slowdown, Ryan said, firemen would refuse to make fire inspections, would discontinue drills and training, and would perform only limited maintenance.

Johnson Gets Big Favor Politically

By JAMES MARLOW AP News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — Ho Chi Minh has done President Johnson a great political favor while seeming to support the President's critics. But peace talks don't look an inch nearer.

By publicly revealing that he and Johnson had an exchange of notes about peace discussions, the President of North Vietnam puts Johnson in the light of a man who, while being roundly blamed for not seeking peace, was quietly and persistently trying to bring it about.

Thus what emerges from this exchange is not a picture of Johnson trying to make propaganda out of his peace efforts, or trying to squelch his critics by announcing everything he was doing; but of a man willing to be denounced if by operating without publicity he thought he might make some progress.

The White House never disclosed the exchange with Ho Chi Minh until the North Vietnamese did it Tuesday while Johnson was flying home from his conference on Guam with South Vietnam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

But Johnson has been criticized at home for not stopping the bombing to see whether the North Vietnamese then would give some sign they would be willing to discuss peace. In the past, almost invariably, they have laid down a number of conditions they said had to be met before there could be a settlement.

In his reply to Johnson, the North Vietnamese president repeated the conditions but then added this:

"If the U.S. government really wants talks, it must first of all stop unconditionally its bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam. It is only after the unconditional cessation of the U.S. bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam that the United States could enter into talks and discuss questions concerning the two sides."

At first glance that sounds like a favorable reply to the proposal of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who wants Johnson to stop the bombing to see whether the North Vietnamese might be willing then to start talking.

But that's only at first glance. Closer up it may not be so simple. Hanoi didn't say it would be willing to talk if the United States just stopped the bombing. It said the United States must also stop "all other acts of

No Apology, Humphrey Declares

By HARRY KELLY GENEVA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey likened the American fighting in Viet Nam today to the U.S. stands in Berlin and Korea and told U.S. representatives in Geneva "we have nothing to apologize for."

Humphrey injected Vietnam and European criticism of U.S. policy in Asia into a 45-minute talk to personnel of the American mission here on the first day of a two-week West European tour.

"This is a peace administration," Humphrey declared, "but a peace with honor administration."

In Viet Nam, Humphrey said, the United States is carrying out three objectives of the U.N. Charter: To suppress aggression, promote self-determination, and assist in nation building.

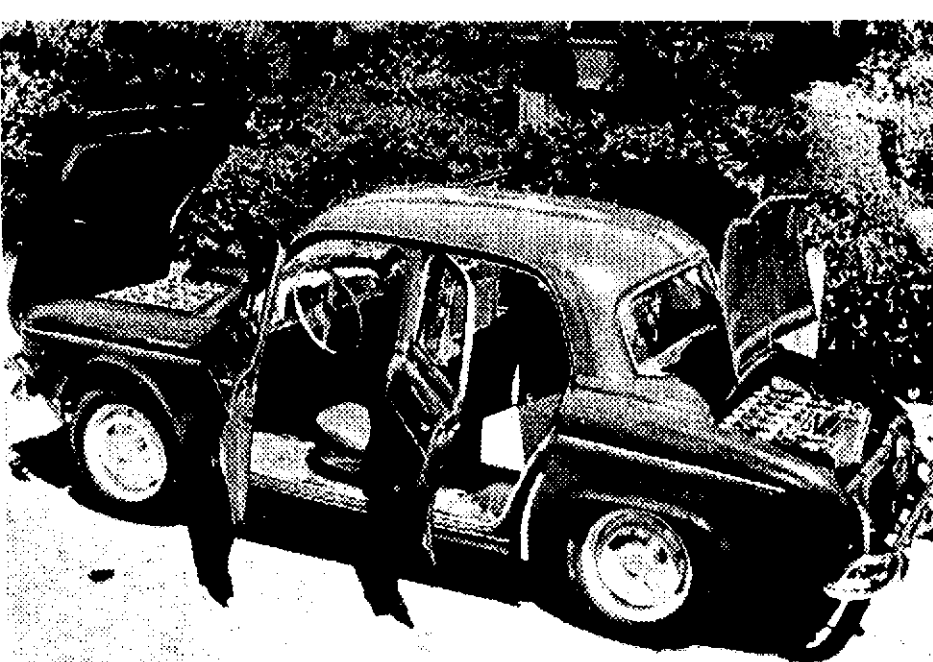

"We have not some 'pax Americana' in mind," he said. "We have no desire to be the world's policeman."

But he contended the United States had a commitment to Vietnam and "if we waver" on our commitments "there will be no peace."

Humphrey compared criticism of President Johnson's Southeast Asia policy with attacks on Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman for their efforts to quarantine aggression.

Automakers Think Electric

BULK AND WEIGHT of batteries and short distance performance before recharging are major obstacles in electric auto development so far. Top left is an electric shuttle car produced and sold in Italy. Below it is the more efficient but bulky fuel cell-powered electrovan by General Motors.

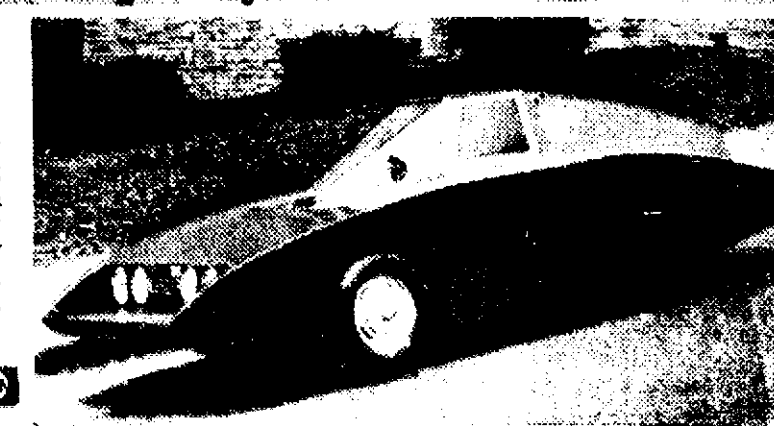

Converted Renault above shows batteries fore and aft.

Ford-built sodium-sulfur battery cuts bulk, but problem of recharging remains.

MOST TEST models today require recharging every 50 miles or so. Car at left may be plugged into a common outlet for new energy, as may the racy job at right, designed in Kalamazoo, Mich., in 1961.

Between you 'n' me

By MURRAY OLDERMAN Sports Editor Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(NEA)—The ordeal and tribulations, the short triumphs and exaltations of being a Met are all bundled up in Ronald Alan Swoboda, age 22.

Two years ago, Ron muscled 19 home runs for the Mets, more than anyone in the history of a club which has flaunted such celebrities as Marv Throneberry and Choo Choo Coleman. He was getting theater tickets on the cuff and enjoying all the other increments of being a star. Last year, Ron batted .222 and reached the milestone of voting age as an incipient has-been.

This spring, he's struggling to stay with the club in any capacity and has even acquired a first baseman's glove.

"It's been a weird two years," said Ron, during a pause in his minimal exertions (he has actually played little this spring). "Someone heaps the big leagues on you and says, 'Well, here you are.' You find out you have a lot, lot to learn. "It's not like going through the minors and learning gradually without much responsibility heaped on you. But, all of a sudden, to play with all the publicity in the big leagues, you find out too quickly you don't have the knowledge you need."

It sounded like Ron almost regretted the early success, the quick comparisons with Mickey Mantle as a home run threat.

"One of the worst things that ever happened to me," admitted Ron. "Instead of just having a mediocre beginning and realizing that, 'gee whiz, I've got a lot to go,' all of a sudden I went—'Boom! Hey, I can hit home runs around here. I can hit the ball out.'"

"I hit a whole batch of them. It came too quick. Before you really are ready to accept it. I'll be 23 the end of June. I'm not fully matured as a person or as a man or anything. I haven't reached the peak of anything I can do."

There's a schism in baseball, and even in the Mets' organization, on what you do with a latent talent like Swoboda. Some, like Charley Metro, a versed scout, say you play him every day, come hell or high water, home runs or strikeouts, until he's had a complete daily exposure to the ranges of major league life. Others, and manager Wes Westrum of the Mets may be in this camp, think a little solid experience at lower levels might be more beneficial.

He's a borderline case right now to stay with the Mets this season.

"It's about time he grew up," said Westrum, "and realized you can't hit every ball out of the park. On his trip back to the dugout he ought to start thinking."

"Oh, I thought about it a lot this winter," retorted Swoboda. "You start talking contract and they look back on the things you did. Everyone says you hit a lowly .220 or .222 or something. I didn't hit for high average but I must have done something else because I didn't feel that bad last year. So I find out I drove in the same amount of runs (50) in 60 less times at bat as I did when I had the 19 home runs."

The original Wunderkind of the Mets didn't mean to imply he was satisfied with his progress, either.

"I'd like to feel I have more command of the game," he said. "I'd like to solve a few of the problems that are bothering me. Not all of them. I talk to guys that are through with baseball, who played a few years, and they didn't solve all their problems. Maybe you have to roll with it, not fight it. I'd like to have a chance to play, but it's been difficult in spring training. We have a lot of good outfielders. I don't feel cheated. I don't feel resentful to anyone."

But it is evident that he's no longer, especially in his own mind, the cocky kid with all the answers.

As Ron grabbed a first baseman's glove and ran out to take infield drill, he shot back over his shoulder, "I've been dealt a few doses of humility."

Computer Puts Wrench On Car's Ailing Parts

THIS FOUR-STATION diagnostic lane is the proving ground for advanced diagnostic techniques and equipment at Ford Motor Company's new Service Research Center in Dearborn, Mich.

By BOB COCHNAR and DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Practically everybody's statistics on the matter show that while under-25 drivers are rougher on their cars, they tend to be more hip about what's under the hood and how to care for it.

Whereas mom or pop might drive up to an automotive serviceman and say, "Fix it," Now Generation types are apt to say, in so many words, "My clutch is out of sight, and the valves don't seem too groovy."

The point is, one of the biggest problems confronting automotive servicing today is finding the trouble spot—guesswork vs. knowledge.

It is a problem, and a growing one, because the car-to-garage ratio increasingly favors cars. Therefore, it takes more time to have a clutch installed or the valves ground. Double the time, the trouble and expense if a mechanic has to look for the malfunction.

But not every driver has the time or even the interest to find out about engines and things as does the super car-conscious Now Generation.

However, the manufacturers in Detroit, who sell more and bigger cars to over-25 folks than to those under, are moving to close the car-think gap. At the same time the manufacturers hope to speed up service, cut service costs and increase highway safety.

The Ford Motor Co., for example, is very busy right now promoting its new car clinics, hospital-like garages where white-coated men use intricate diagnostic equipment to determine a car's ills.

For a few dollars, Ford says, you can take your car down a 100-foot lane and come out the other end with as much automotive savvy as any hot rod hippy. And, of course, if you're a Now Person and don't know cars, you can be in.

Without getting too technical, a typical piece of equipment is a stethoscope machine which, hooked to a computer, can be put to an engine block and in seconds tell what the trouble is, how serious and how much it will cost to fix it. Let Ford's Robert C. Graham, service research and operations manager, explain another of these gadgets, one for testing shock absorbers.

"The classic method of testing for worn shocks is for a mechanic to bounce the car's body. Our test involves a temperature sensitive probe, attached magnetically to the shock absorber casing, and a device to control the bounce of the car.

"The car bumper is attached to a large floor-mounted piston, and magnetic probes are secured to the lower sections of the shock absorbers. Compressed air activates the piston and bounces the car.

"In the next 90 seconds, the car is bounced 120 times through 4-inch cycles, and heat readings are displayed on an indicator. The heat rise indicates the degree of restriction of the shock absorber or its effectiveness in absorbing road bumps.

"It is," said Graham, "the first sophisticated shock absorber test we know of that could be readily adapted to diagnostic center or new car dealership service use."

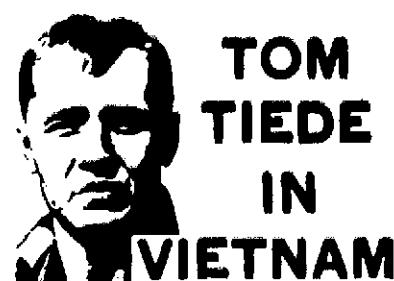

Ford and its competitors admit that enough centers to handle the car load is several years off. The ones set up now have bugs which must be worked out, but they still can detect a specific malfunction without the costly business of dismantling component parts.

This pioneer work in car clinics probably will be of more benefit to the young later, not now. In 25 years, it is estimated that a breakdown on a busy superhighway could create chaos for 50 miles in either direction.

SPINOFFS: What? An auto manufacturer knocking $2,000-plus off the cost of a new car? True enough. But it shouldn't cause anybody to get trampled in a stampede. The car is the Aston-Martin DB-6, and the cost has dropped to a mere $12,500.

IN

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

KONTUM, Vietnam—(NEA)—It happened without warning. There were some shots and explosions. And in a dreadful instant the American camp was being overrun by dozens of suicidal enemy soldiers.

The GIs were stunned. It could have been a disaster.

But, fortunately, it wasn't. As it happened, the U.S. unit, an artillery battery from the 101st Airborne, was prepared. At a preordained signal the crew of a 105mm howitzer leveled their tube directly at the onrushing terrorists.

The gun fired once. Its report was almost ridiculously weak. It sounded more like a popping tire than the boom of an artillery piece.

But its effect was devastating. What was a wall of ranting enemy became a silent sea of writhing bodies. Guerrilla troops grabbed at their faces and fell like rocks. Others gaped open-mouthed, groped helplessly with their hands, and dropped in lifeless heaps.

Shocked and confused, those guerrillas who survived turned and ran for the jungle in stark terror. Their attack was hopelessly mutilated. They never knew what hit them.

And what did hit them? U.S. technology did.

In this case, the beehive bomb.

The beehive, more officially the XM-546, is a recently declassified, three-foot-long artillery shell which can kill with such eerie efficiency that it may well strangle the most fearsome straggle in Oriental warfare—the human wave assault.

The shell is simple enough.

actually. A bit larger than a normal 105 round, but no more expensive to make. Its payload consists of over 8,000 three-gram, inch-long darts.

The darts, or flechettes, are uniformly packed in a row of separate containers and covered by a layer of shell casting iron.

In event of close-in fighting, the shell can be set to explode at less than five feet from the gun tube. After blast, the 8,000 darts are hurled in a cone-shaped direction with the velocity of rifle shots.

The darts, stabilized with fins, hit head first. But on impact with flesh they usually tumble. One flechette can shatter a large bone. A half dozen will tear a chunk of body completely away.

Quite plainly, the results are grotesque. Those close to the gunpoint can be shredded beyond recognition... and, in usage here, enemy troops have been killed 200 meters from ground zero.

It is indeed. Even in tests the shell is terrifying. In a recent 101st experimentation, the 546 was aimed at scores of empty ammunition boxes.

all of which were hit with such frightful force that most weren't even knocked over... just demolished.

In a stateside trial, a beehive was shot at a football field packed with several hundred balloons... all of which, throughout the entire field, popped as if they were one.

Many units haven't even been issued the round yet, and those that have treasure it as priceless. The 101st, as example, snubs wooden cartons and carries its loads supply strictly by hand.

But the demand for the beehive is growing. And, too, is the demand for its diversification. As of now, the shell is designated as a defensive weapon. Yet an airdroppable counterpart of sufficient size could presumably stop the charge of a battalion.

Infantrymen who've seen it envision darts in their hand grenades. And others feel that flechette-filled antipersonal mines are a natural.

In fact, everybody wants a piece of the invention.

Except the enemy, of course.

Washington and New York Letters

Editor The Star: We are going to use process color (three colors and black) in the April 22 issue of the Publishers' Auxiliary and would like to include a sample of your work. We have admired the results of the second Berkeley machine in the country in recent issues and feel this could supplement the article you are doing for our sister publication National Publisher (Hope's offset conversion story).

We are printed on a Goss Suburban in Culpepper, Va., and the boys tell me that they can make plates from negatives — if you can supply the negatives. Let's aim for a 3-column picture: Our column widths are 6 1-16 inches for 3 columns (6 inches will allow for margins). Since this will be a "first" for the Publishers' Auxiliary and a first for the Culpepper press we might as well do it up right. And a picture from the Hope Star will do just that. Sincerely

Ed Note: It is a great honor, of course, to be selected for the first process color run in the newspaper trade publication which reaches every weekly and daily in the United States and Canada. We will furnish either "Hog-Killing Time in Arkansas" or "Spring in Arkansas," whichever the Auxiliary chooses between our first two full-color productions. The same process negative separations made on our Berkeley machine for The Star will be furnished to the Auxiliary — but due to the season I imagine they will want the Spring shot.

Editor The Star: We understand you do color separations for the trade. Do you do 3-color separations also... or just 4-color? Could you please let us know, and send prices and time schedule. We may be able to use your service. Thank you. Cordially

Ed Note: Just another letter I've got to answer—Olney, Ill., Denver, Colo., and now New York state—explaining that we'll get around to making separations for commercial printers and agencies but not until we have gotten The Star itself on a regular color production schedule. Things like the Vietnam map and the Easter decoration don't count. In both instances Newspaper Enterprise Association, our feature syndicate furnished us complete sets of color proofs—the exacting job of making color separations had already been done for us in Cleveland, O.

But handling photographs and other original color copy requires rapid and accurate use of the new Berkeley machine—and gaining proficiency in this will take time. Your editor has learned the routine on the machine—all 51 steps—and he did do part of the work on the Salute to the Legislature edition coming up Wednesday; but we're still a long way from regular production, believe me.

Body Found, Throat Cut

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The body of Pete Paul Bawiec, 57, was found Sunday afternoon about five miles north of North Little Rock, the Pulaski County Sheriff's office said.

Opel Allen, an investigator for the sheriff's office, said the body was found by Arthur Kitta, a nephew of Bawiec. They began a search for him after he had been gone from his home for about an hour.

Authorities said Bawiec's throat had been cut.

Beatles Win a Musical Award

LONDON (AP) — Beatles John Lennon and Paul McCartney today won the Ivor Novello award for outstanding contributions to British music in 1966.

They received bronze statuettes as writers of the most performed work of 1966 — "Michelle" — and certificates as runners-up for "Yesterday."

Politics Charged in Vote Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Odell Pollard, the chairman of the Arkansas Republican Party, said Sunday the investigation into alleged election irregularities in Faulkner County is "an effort by an organized political faction in the Fifth Judicial District."

He said the faction is dominated by Sen. Guy Jones of Conway, Sheriff Marlin Hawkins and others.

Pollard said the purpose of the investigation is to obtain "confidential records of the Republican Party."

Pollard charged that investigations and prosecutions in the Fifth Judicial District depend upon political affiliation. He said the Republican Party does not have anything to hide.

"Nevertheless, the party will not voluntarily make confidential campaign records available to our political enemies," Pollard said.

The Faulkner County Circuit Court Saturday ordered the First National Bank of Little Rock to provide the court with bank ledger sheets and deposit slips for the account of Mrs. Wanda Tudor, presently a receptionist in the office of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

The court ordered the records produced in connection with hints by Jones that the Republican Party had bought votes of Faulkner County Negroes during the 1966 general election.

Police Sigh in Relief as 40,000 Students Head Back to Classes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Youth had its fling over the Easter weekend, mainly at several East and Gulf Coast resorts, to climax their holiday vacations. But it wasn't all rioting and arrests as the mod set staged a West Coast "Love-In" and a Manhattan "Be-In."

Police heaved sighs of relief Sunday as more than 40,000 college students headed back to classes, leaving some beaches strewn with beer cans and other debris.

At Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the bulk of 30,000 college boys and girls began a mass exodus to various campuses. There were 500 in the young army of revelers arrested for drunkenness, rowdiness, loitering and interfering with police activities from Thursday through Sunday.

Early Sunday, 16 youths were arrested by Fort Lauderdale police after they pelted officers with firecrackers. A van taking them to jail burst into flames

U.S. Tanker Oil Ruins British Beaches, Kills Thousands of Birds Improvement on K Park Progressing

By COLIN FROST

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The supertanker Torrey Canyon was breaking up today and appeared on the point of sinking as her oil ruined beaches and killed thousands of birds on the Cornish coast.

If the 61,263-ton American tanker goes down, she will spew out an estimated 80,000 tons of crude oil, twice the amount that already has escaped.

More than 70 miles of coastline, from the Lizard to Newquay, have been polluted by the advancing oil. In places the oil slick is ten inches thick. Gales forecast today threatened to spread the black carpet to most of Britain's south coast.

One expert estimated more than 15,000 gulls, cormorants and other sea birds have died and another 30,000 were trapped, unable to fly because their wings were clogged with oil.

Nature lovers feared that some species may become extinct. A small army of bird lovers was mobilized to save as many as possible from the oil.

Men also worked around the clock trying to save rich oyster beds in river estuaries. Dredges moved more than 700,000 oysters into deep water from the Duchy of Cornwall oyster farm which is owned by Prince Charles and leased to a chain of fish stores.

With the advent of good Spring weather, work on the K-Park improvement project is moving at a rapid pace. The Project is a joint venture between the Hope Kiwanis Club, the Little League Baseball organization and the City Parks and Recreation Dept. Other City departments along with the Hempstead County road department have taken part in the project.

From the very beginning, the Kiwanis Club pledged $3,000.00 for this project. To date, $1,747.00 has been spent, with the balance of the Kiwanis money being held back to complete the fencing and bleacher canopy. The balance of these available funds will still be $548.00 short of completing the fencing and grandstand.

With the total estimated cost of the project running near $5,000.00, an additional $2,000.00 is needed in order to complete the entire project and even this figure does not include miscellaneous items such as a sound system, Scoreboard etc.

Following are completed phases of the project and their costs:

- Removing old structures - $144.50
- Resodding Field (materials only) - $82.06
- 2 - Dugouts - 662.00
- Light Fixtures & Bulbs - $520.00
- Backstop Extension, Grandstand & Press Box Frame, Bleachers etc. - $408.24

It is hoped that this project can be complete before the Local Little League hosts the State Little League Tournament.

The Kiwanis Club is depending on funds from the annual minstrel to raise the $3,000.00 pledged to this project. The local club has certainly shown its willingness to work to support our City's youngsters. So let's show our willingness to help by attending the Kiwanis Minstrel. The twofold purpose of seeing an excellent show and building a fine ball park just can't be beat.

Contributors to various phases of the project other than the Kiwanians and the City depts., have been Lyle McMahan, donating 2 tons of lime, Judge Flins Odom and the Hempstead County road dept., donating several hours of motor patrol work and the Hope Brick Works, donating a great number of the tile used in the dugout construction.

Police Chief Louis Rosetti said, "It's a mess. They've been breaking windshields of cars, tearing up lawn chairs, and with firecrackers. A van taking them to jail burst into flames

Legislature Has Long List of Bills

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas General Assembly returns to work Monday, facing at least two controversial issues and a long list of other bills that were not acted on in the first 61 days of the session.

Several legislators think the extended session can be concluded since die within five days if the legislature tends to its business.

The investigation of bribes allegedly offered legislators could prove a stumbling block to a speedy adjournment. Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Friday it was not his legal responsibility to investigate the alleged bribe offers.

The School Finance Act, which determines in what manner teacher's salaries will be raised, is expected to stir up some controversy. The Legislature must also act on the Revenue Stabilization Act. The stabilization act determines how revenues are distributed.

Gov. Maurice Britt said he had heard second hand rumors that a move was underway to recess when the business at hand is finished so the legislature would be free to come back later of its own accord if the necessity should arise. He said, however, the only comments he has heard directly was that the legislators want to "get on with it and adjourn sine die."

Rockefeller says he plans to call a special session next January.

Rep. Bill Wells of Hermitage says he plans to introduce a resolution seeking an investigation of "alleged attempted bribery" and an inquiry to try to clarify Rockefeller's stand on the gambling bill.

Discontent over appropriations for the public schools and the proposed teachers salaries raise distribution spurs the possibility of another major controversy.

Rockefeller has signed into law a bill allotting a $500 raise for all teachers each year of the next biennium but wants a formula distribution method.

The General Assembly convenes at noon Monday after a two-week recess.

Railway Merger Is Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court held up the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads today.

Justice Tom C. Clark, announcing the 5-4 decision, said the merger should be delayed until the Interstate Commerce Commission determines the fate of smaller railroads.

Clark made it clear the court was not passing on the validity of the merger, the biggest corporate union in the history of American business.

Delay had been requested by the Justice Department and by nine other railroads.

The proposed $6-billion merger had been under study and discussion by the Interstate Commerce Commission for some 10 years. It approved the deal last April, saying the merger could "fall apart" by delay.

Senate Group Urges Officials to Lift Bombing Restrictions

AP News Digest

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee today urged officials to lift bombing restrictions in the Vietnam war. But President Johnson gave his figurative embrace to a senator newly converted to administration war policy.

The critical survey came from the watchdog Senate Defense subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., which sent four investigators to South Vietnam last fall for a check with U.S. commanders and combat units.

The panel said the cost of tactical air operations in Vietnam, including restricted bombing of targets in North Vietnam, "has been heavy for the limited gains achieved."

The air raids over North Vietnam have made it more costly for the North Vietnamese to wage aggression, but it has been through the sacrifice of many American lives and aircraft losses extending into billions of dollars.

But Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., just back from Vietnam, maintained Sunday that the bombing should continue under present circumstances, then said Johnson had praised him for presenting his views and had asked for a personal meeting.

Meanwhile Democratic Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania advocated a trial halt in bombing to test Soviet intentions on peace talks while Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said this would be dangerous.

The defense subcommittee's report was the second of six that Stennis has promised as a result of an investigation of the war by the panel.

A Defense Department statement published as part of the report protested that the Senate findings were "in important respects marred by errors of fact and inference."

But the Pentagon made no denial of the subcommittee statement that "selection of targets to be struck in North Vietnam is still controlled in large measure from Washington. The striking forces must operate outside of certain prohibited areas and to the exclusion of specific targets."

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — Police in this suburban San Diego County community investigated an anonymous tip that two young men were seen pushing a compact car into the living room of a house, after removing sliding glass doors.

The two young men, officers said Sunday, pleaded inability to afford a radio, and said they chose this method of bringing music — from the auto radio — into the home.

The court said that both the state and federal government originally exempted all "agricultural labor." It said, however, that by subsequent legislation the state exempted only "services performed in the employ of an owner or tenant operation of a farm."

The federal government has made a broader exemption of "all services performed on a farm, in the employment of any person" but has given the states discretion to set its own standards, the court said.

The court, in an opinion by Associate Justice J. Fred Jones, said it didn't believe the state legislature intended to give the same broad exemptions as the federal act.

Associate Justices John F. Brennan and Conley Byrd dissented in both cases.

In another opinion, the court reversed and remanded to Garland Circuit Court the 18-year sentence of Duncan Walter McIntyre on a charge of burglary allegedly committed Aug. 1, 1961.

McIntyre contended that he was deprived of counsel before trial.

MIG Downed as Fighting Erupts Anew

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — American airmen smashing deep into North Vietnam shot a Communist MIG17 from the skies Sunday while the ground war erupted with sharp fighting from the 17th Parallel to the Mekong Delta.

One U. S. jet went down over the North, but the pilot was saved. Communist ground gunners in the South downed three American helicopters and badly shot up four more.

A series of Red assaults and mortar barrages in the delta, including one attack on the U. S. airfield near Can Tho, brought out a blazing display of U. S. ground, sea and air power. The guerrilla attacks were met with fire from helicopter gunships, shots from river patrol boats and a rain of bullets from lumbering C47 transports mounting guns that can each spew 6,000 rounds a minute.

The air battle over North Vietnam took place during a strike on the Son Tay Army supply point 23 miles west of Hanoi, the first time the installation has been reported bombed. It contains half a dozen ammunition bunkers and a string of barracks.

A Night of eight Soviet-designed MIGs jumped the U. S. raiders, and an Air Force F105 Thunderchief turned into the marauders and shot one down. It was the 38th MIG killed by U. S. fliers in the war, in contrast to 10 U. S. planes shot down by North Vietnamese pilots.

Court Affirms Jobless Pay to Poultrymen

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed today the award of unemployment compensation benefits to two poultry workers in its first interpretation of agricultural exemptions under the Arkansas Employment Security Act.

The court affirmed the decision of Johnson Circuit Court in awarding compensation to C. A. Clemmons and Lucille Howard, who were employees of the Hanford Produce Co. at its Clarksville hatchery.

In a similar case, the court affirmed for the same reasons a Pulaski court decision awarding claims to Louis L. Scott and Raymond Standridge, who were employees of Arkansas Valley Industries, Inc.

In the Hanford decision, the court rejected the firm's claims that the employees were not covered by the act because of exemptions covering employment in connection with raising, feeding or management of poultry.

Hanford also contended that the employees were not eligible for benefits because of a 1947 act, exempting all employment that is exempt under the federal unemployment compensation tax laws.

The court said that both the state and federal government originally exempted all "agricultural labor." It said, however, that by subsequent legislation the state exempted only "services performed in the employ of an owner or tenant operation of a farm."

The federal government has made a broader exemption of "all services performed on a farm, in the employment of any person" but has given the states discretion to set its own standards, the court said.
